

Inclusiveness in Idaho

The state of Idaho has made a commitment to its people, a promise of equal opportunity in schools, housing, public accommodations and employment. It's a promise that is sometimes easier to make than to keep. But if we keep that promise, all these young people will be winners, so will Idaho.